

Thoughts: Poems

By Louis Buonocore

New Generation Publishing, United States, 2007. Paperback.
Book Condition: New. 203 x 127 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .We get a short, sweet taste in spring Of summer s golden beams, For birds and trees and everything Arise from winter s dreams. During the Second World War, Louis Buonocore was conscripted, as a Bevin Boy, to work in the coal mines. The poetry he wrote at the time reflected not only his mining experiences, but also a strong appreciation of the natural world, of the rising and setting sun and the changing seasons. Louis was a man of peace. He enjoyed fishing where he could sit and think. He worked for STC in New Southgate for forty-four years, making aeroplane radios at the outbreak of war. He always had a book with him and was an avid reader all his life.

READ ONLINE
[6.1 MB]

Reviews

Very beneficial for all type of folks. It can be rally intriguing through studying time. You will like how the writer publish this ebook.

-- Nathan Cruickshank

Totally one of the better pdf I have at any time read through. It really is simplified but shocks within the 50 % from the ebook. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

-- Mariano Spinka